General

The WILD A8 Stereo-Plotting Machine serves for the spatial plotting of pairs of aerial photographs taken almost vertically.

This departure from universality makes it possible to have a simple and convenient machine which allows plotting to be carried out by semiskilled operators. Aerotriangulations and special cases need universal plotting machine and experts.

For guiding the floating mark a carriage system with hand wheels has been adopted. The drawing table has been separated from the actual plotting machine and interchangeable gear ratios make it possible to either enlarge or reduce the machine scale.
